

The Wesley Singers

The Wesley Singers form a Methodist choir based in the Yorkshire West District. They rehearse on Thursday evenings at Chapel Allerton Methodist Church from mid-September to mid-June and take part in ten or more concerts and services a year. Founded in 1985, the choir sings in churches large and small, offering a wide range of music both for worship and entertainment. Their concert programmes are generally based on church music, but also include secular items, solos, readings and humorous monologues. Whilst always striving for the highest of musical standards, the choir hopes to bring joy and renewal through its Christian mission of music. The choir is directed by Barry Jordan and is accompanied by his wife, Pat.

The Wesley Singers' website, www.wesleysingers.org.uk has information about the choir, photos, recordings and details of past and future concerts.
